Re                            Sim
 There was something in the air
  Sol
I knew that in that moment
        La
I would burn the world to keep you warm
Re                           Sim
 But my life won't let me stay
   Sol
So if we never speak again
   La
At least we still have soul
Re          La/Do#          Sim      La
 And only God could separate us
Sol               La                   Re
On my skin, you left your mark the night you held me close
Re           La/Do#                   Sim        La
 And in the morning, we turned to strangers
    Sol             La
But don't you hesitate to call
    Re              Mim
I'm posted in Hong Kong

La               Re La/Do#                    Sim La

                    Sol           La                 Re La

La               Re La/Do#                   Sim           La

Re                         Sim
 Still remember when we met
   Sol                                 La                Re
We barely knew each other, but that tension never left
                           Sim
Now you're sleeping in my bed
  Sol                               La
A thing that never started already comes to an end

Re           La/Do#          Sim      La
 And I know God would separate us
Sol           La                  Re                La
Any time it felt this good, it ends in tragic song
Re       La/Do#               Sim      La
 I'm so used to weathering changes
   Sol           La
So if you ever change your mind
    Re               Mim
I'm waiting in Hong Kong

La               Re La/Do#                    Sim La
Naa tsi gwai hau fung  tseoi dak naa joeng hung
                    Sol           La                 Re La
Fong fat sai soeng yat cai yii ging siu sat sou zhung
La               Re La/Do#                   Sim           La
Nei ci gwai hau fung  dai dong gai waak cyun yaa mou yung
